I would rather be dead than a face a future where I feel i have been labelled a freak and a monster by actors. I do not want to be seen or work if i can not be proud of who I am and I am an actor. I will not be happy if I can not be an actor there is noting I want to achieve. You keep talking about skills people can have that others can use? Well I am sorry to tell you this but I do not think that way. i think what skills I have to help myself. I do everything on my own for me. No one else does. And to me having a man in my life means i have to do things for me and this other person when I am not getting enough sleep. In addition, I do not want every actor out there. Seriously in college when i was studying theater half the guys were gay and i knew it. And I dated one guy who was 6 feet tall blond with blue eyes. I have a type. He was the lead in most of the plays I worked with him on. I am tired of actors acting like I might chase after them and also what ever gossip is out there. I did not make 20,000 a year from 2003 to 2008 at minimum wage as a background artist without knowing how to be on a set and yet my union acts like I committed a crime. <http://lauraanntull.artistichope.com/acting/?p=2007>

Good Morning Laura,

I offered the opportunity as a possible participant for filming for the Film33 film this semester as a crew position based, on it being a Film Production related opportunity and your work in Film 32 I pleasantly experienced. I apologize if that offended you and will notify you if there are any roles you may be a candidate in auditioning for, if you solely prefer to only participate as an actress.

Beat Regards

Mark Sanche

It did not offend me the way you think. My goal is to be redmspected as BOTH. Not belittled by either. I do not want to assume but you can not completely get how it feels as a woman to be held back because of my sex and age. When younger women are not sen to be restricted for wanting to pursue multiple goals in the same industry. Im frustrated because i wanted out of school but i wanted to leave school to the life i once had on sets. Moving on is difficult when you do not see a safe road to reach your goals or any roads.

Very understandable and makes sense to me now that you have clarified. See you in Film 21 tomorrow evening.

Look I do not like fake pretentious people. And i do not like people who want to hurt and degrade me for being a woman who wants to do things i love and enjoy more than i care about being rich or famous. Yet irony to be an actor and wkrk i have to be known.

Good luck to you. I do not believe in keeping your friends close and your enemies closer. You will probably make a successful life for yourself but i do nkt need to be one of the people you knife on the way up. That is how you come across to me. Sorry.

And i do not know what to do because i do not like our teachers remarks about how unattractive people have to work harder or that guy at the back who made the star quality comment, especially after i gave him advice to get cast. Id switch into the other script class if i could but it is probably too late.

By the way im 80000 in debt from law school and needed to work on sets to pay that off. I cant quit school without knowing i have work to help me pay my debt but i will not give up acting. Id rather be an actor than a wife or mom. I cant just drop out of class. I never bounced a check on my life and in 2006 i asked this moron to take me back to my car. Instead he drove me to the hollywood hills and when i was asleep put his hand down my jeans and i woke up with him trying to violate me. He got his girlfriend pregnant so he gets to work because she is a blonde little artist girl. She went to my college but is younger than me. Why i get angry about the attractive comment. Because even though i may be. It didnt stop this monster from trying to rape me. Jeremy Gilbreath

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/jeremy-c-gilbreath-a9130115>

And this is an email i sent jeremy to stop harrassing me on sets after he tried to violate me. I told his now wife i liked blondes. Jeremy knew i had liked John Ponzio and also Blake Shields. I knew jeremy had a girlfriend. I thought i was safe. And i also stopped jeremy from trying to kill himself. I do not deserve to be put down for wanting to be an actor while this guy who tried to rape me Post my mastectomy. Like i had already lost me breasts gets to work on sets.

When you brought up Terence Mallick... You looked back at me oddly. Jeremy Gilbreath was Nick Stahl's stand in on Carnivale. Nick was the lead of The Thin Red Line also starring Will Wallace who im guessing is about 55 years old because he graduated from SMU in 89, i assume law. He is a good decade older than me but i will not worship the ground he walks on as he knew i was a lawyer in 2003. Unlike Will I studied acting in college not math. And i did not have a mother marry a well known film maker.

I know from Will Wallace's own moth that Mallick back in 2003 did not respect him or i should say Wallace stupidly did the wrong thing on set and his step father cut him out of a key scene in Thin red line. Do not assume i will not find a way to get justice for Will Wallace and his attempts to insinuate i owe him a damn thing.

By the way... How many liberals would respect a film maker in a pro life film...

Considering the Supreme Court just made Texas trap laws unconstitutional and women in Texas who need basic care for female needs like yeast infections and other complications could not get care because the same abortion clinics also handled pap smears and other tests.
