Hey

Between Chris Berube and You

I have a confession. You told me that your theater is a safe place for me to be. Well it is not. I've had my toe crushed. Neither of my partners have really met with me outside of the group, and frankly I suspect that over the next month, neither of them will, so if I pull the acting off- I'd say I am good and professional.

the whole postcard mess with Nick and Leslie competing to do it and implying I could not represent the group. Overall, not a safe place at all. I am grateful though. the only thing in my half full cup is this showcase. I love being on sets and acting... I kind of hate everything else now. Love for life is important. I feel like though I am willing to work with others, I have been prejudiced against and it is not right. I doubt I will get what I need from the show case. It is all I have though.

Thanks.

Truly,

Laura

Correction.. Leslie will.... Erin rarely returns my emails or calls, so if I am doing a good job for you, I am a professional, because no outside rehearsals for me.

 (sigh) **

Ya know Laura

I have heard all the complaints.

I have been privy to some voicemail you have left other cast members

I have read some email and I am not getting involved in this game of yours.

If you truly feel unsafe, let me know and I'll remove you from the "hazardous" environment.

Until then, please try and get thru the run and then you can go off and find a place where you can feel more safe and that will accept you.

The rest of us will find a way to continue without you.

and we'll be safe as well.

I really don't want to hear any more of this.

Thanks

I am an exceptionally good person otherwise I would have have walked away by now. If you can't see my value and that I am not the one playing the game, then I am sorry. My best to you. I actually wrote a letter to Michael Anderson about your idea. If you get a email from him don't bother to thank me....

It is not a game. I wish you had joined our group on line. Nick and Leslie started this game with their "you can't do the flyer" bit. I did not have the capacity to represent the group. I am not playing a game. I wanted to work and be appreciated for it. I did allot of work on this, and in part I have felt responsible for all of it. I am honest and hard working and I can act. No one gave me a job description. I was actually thinking of putting together some kind of packet to give to the next showcase group. But I guess my life is over.

I want a safe place to act. I am tired of no one standing up for me and I am tired of being abused. I should quit now as all I get from Nick are how I should not have anyone supporting me and you are not privy to that. I have not come to you about any of it, because I did not want to destroy others in the group or destroy their safety there. I have felt as though my partners did not expect me to be here because of my lack of work, and in the meantime I am only continuing for them. Otherwise I would quit now from Nick's game. Nick even voted for the postcard with the green background but I heard him tell Leslie he only did that because he did not want me to be able to take credit for the work. that is the only reason he wants me to put the postcard on the blog... because he knows I will not take credit for something that is not completely my idea. I am an ethical honorable person. I did not come to you to bicker about any of it because I am not a hurtful person. I have nothing to live for after this project. NOTHING!! I painted your blocks and did the flyers and postcards. I lost a month or more of work, and the only person I sent any attachments too is Kate. No one else would be infected. I never sent the postcards around... I POSTED THEM ON FACEBOOK IN the group section.

I am a very smart and talented girl but the only future I had was with your showcase and hearing the others talk about how they are going to tell people I don't have a job and how I don't have a prayer of anything coming of this. Because I am a woman of honor I am finishing the run. BUT I AM NOT PLAYING A GAME... I would call erin a maximum of 3 times during the week to try to meet with her, and half the time I would not get calls back. I wanted to meet. We met once at her place. I don't want to kick her out, but I want to make sure she will work on the project. I am good at acting, otherwise I would not be able to do the job. She appears to be willing to meet now, but I think it is only because I let it be known I was upset. I am not difficult to work with. I aim to please and I keep confidences. THERE IS NO GAME! Not from me.

Peace and best.

Why should I even do the showcase if you are going to talk to me about doing a game? I am the one who did most of the work. The flyers, the blog, facebook, all of it.... My committee just caused me more grief...And Nick trying to run my committee as well. Now you are telling me I don't have a future with your company, when I worked my butt off and was always there. I am not playing a game.... You are.... I have not lied and I did nothing wrong..... I am an honorable person... I am an adult dealing with children. I did not backstab you to anyone. If someone told you I did that person lied and that person played the game. I am a person who self sacrifices.

Ya know.....

I just logged onto facebook and got this "bundle" which is comprised of 2 email which you have sent even after I specifically requested / asked that you not continue your behavior.

I've decided not to read them, nor will I read anything else from your pen (or keyboard).

I have nothing against you personally or professionally. I hold no grudge and refuse to get involved in what I can only see as self sabotage.

I run a good, honest, and above board theater. The majority of the people I work with come back to do additional projects. A few people from this showcase will be back.

I understand you might feel differently in some areas and acknowledge that I can't please all of the people all of the time.

I will not be reduced to jump into a mudpit to serve some self created drama which will only take a situation to a worsened level.

You feel victimized? Sorry Under appreciated? Can't help you Need to confess and lash out? Not here for that.

I asked you not to continue .. and you obviously couldn't honor such a simple request. So the door is shut. No more email from you shall be read, entertained or opened before the immediate "delete" button is hit.

You have lost that tiny respectable honor with me. So write away for whatever reason you choose. Just know that in the end, your eyes will be the only ones that read them.

If there is anything you need to be communicated with me, you will have to do it personally...and if you can't handle that, I will assume it's not important enough to be dealt with.

Like I said before, I harbor no grudge or ill will towards you. I just refuse to become involved with these silly games.

Now enough of the crap, I have a theater to run.
